M1 Pacific Motorway upgrades

Eight Mile Plains to Daisy Hill

The $749 million M1 Pacific Motorway upgrade between Eight Mile Plains and Daisy Hill is currently in the planning and business case development stage, and is jointly funded by the Australian and Queensland Governments. $17 million has been allocated to continue development in 2018-19. The nine kilometre section currently carries in the order of 150,000 vehicles per day, including approximately 12,000 heavy vehicles.

Working in partnership with the Department of Transport and Main Roads, Building Queensland is leading completion of the project business case to widen the motorway from six to eight lanes, extending the South East Busway 3.7 kilometres to Springwood Station with dedicated bus lanes and a new Rochedale busway station with a 500 bay park and ride, and 7.5 kilometres of separated bikeway.

The upgrade will deliver capacity for traffic demand that will improve safety, travel times and reliability, and will optimise freight efficiency by rationalising local accesses and utilise technology to manage traffic flows.

Pacific Motorway - Gateway Motorway Merge

The $190 million upgrade to the Pacific Motorway and Gateway merge will widen southbound lanes between Eight Mile Plains and Rochedale, and is expected to significantly alleviate traffic congestion issues. The project will also relocate the existing bus entry from Eight Mile Plains Bus Station and replace the Underwood bridge with a new four-lane overpass. The project is due for completion in November 2020.
